Teaching Good Values and Principles for Life!

About Emma Williams, C.S.W./Member at Large

Emma has been working with people since the age of 16 when she obtained a degree as a certified nursing assistant. Since then she has worked in a variety of fields such as driving a potato truck, directing a Girl Scout Camp, teaching, and managing a home for Alzheimer's patients. Most recently she has worked as a Social Worker in Adams County. She has a great many other accomplishments such as raising a family of her own including 2 children, and earning a black belt in Tai Kwon Do at the age of 47.

Emma went back to school when she was 30 years old to earn a bachelor's degree in Psychology. In 1996 she began working for Adams County as a social worker specializing in child protection and juvenile justice. Emma finds much satisfaction in sharing her talents in order to help the children she works with and her community, even though her field provides little gratification while children are still young. Much of her passion for the well-being for others is evident in her own children. One of her daughters has a career in social work, and the other works with individuals in a dialysis clinic.

The philosophy Emma has used for the past 17 years of working with juveniles revolves around teaching delinquents about the mistakes they have made, and how to rectify them. She also teaches structure, to assist them in not only avoiding court and prison, but also competing for success in life. She has also enjoyed the privilege of teaching classes to help teens understand expectations of society and parenting classes. In the future, Emma hopes to create a peer group to help teens and families maintain a drug-free life.
